

I am totally against the increased concentration of TV and radio stations. There is already too little local content and control of news and entertainment. We do not need a few national firms controlling our information - we need many local ones with different ownership.